Parent Permission for Bus Transportation of Musical Instruments and Valuables

Students who own their own musical instruments (string instruments, wind instruments and percussion instruments) and valuables will be allowed to transport them on the school bus only with parent approval as expressed below.

1. Instruments must be transported in hard cases.
2. Parents who approve transporting musical instruments must understand the inherent risks of loading, securing, and unloading instruments.
3. KIS is not responsible for the instruments and the valuables in case of accidental damage caused during the duration of the bus ride or damage caused by student's neglect.
4. KIS is not responsible for the loss of the instruments and the valuables caused by student's neglect on the bus.
5. Parents understand that large instruments such as a cello may need to be placed in the cargo compartment of the bus if there is not enough room on the bus and agree to that as a safe practice.
